

2012 A New Era at The Monroe Institute

New Executive Director/President, Carol (Sabick) de la Herran, talks about what's in the works for 2012

Thanks to Skip Atwater

We, the directors of The Monroe Institute, wish to give a separate, special thanks to Skip Atwater for taking on job of President for the past few years. After the death of Laurie Monroe, the Board of Directors in its January 2007 elected Skip as the Interim Executive Director and President. His hard work kept TMI going and functioning well. When Paul Rademacher became the Executive Director, Skip continued to help with the management of TMI as its President. There are no adequate words to describe his love and dedication to the Institute over the years and his willingness to take on extra responsibilities as the need has arisen.

The office of President was combined into the office of Executive Director in order to relieve Skip of the day-to-day management responsibilities so that he can give time and energy to the research and further development of the SAM Technology and programs, such an important part of TMI's future.

We want to express our deep appreciation and thanks for taking on so many responsibilities, being there to carry us through many changing circumstances, and always ready to help where needed. We look forward to your continued support developing the SAM technology and specialized programs as we move forward.

Gratefully,

Board of Directors
The Monroe Institute
